

TRAVELER OF THE QUARTER

Christmas Markets

Iceland

Hello everyone,

Women of the Midwest appeared on my Facebook feed in Fall 2022. After not being able to travel due to the Covid years, I jumped on the chance to go on the Christmas Market tour in Austria and Germany. I got the last spot and traveled as a solo. I was somewhat concerned about making friends on that trip – but my doubts instantly disappeared at the Omaha Airport. All the women were as excited as I was to travel and let the friendships begin. After that first trip, I knew without a doubt that Women of the Midwest was my future travel agency.

On the Iceland and Irresistible Italy trips, I introduced two different girlfriends to Women of the Midwest and had a roommate. They were impressed as much as I was and one of the friends has already taken a second trip with Women of the Midwest. On the England trip I again went as a solo traveler. Thus, two trips with a roommate and two trips solo.

Either way you travel, solo or with a roommate, you will meet the most delightful, amazing, incredible women. The women I have met from across the United States are the main reason I love Women of the Midwest. Whether you are married, single, widowed, or divorced, all the women just come together to become friends.

Besides the friendships made, you will have incredible guides who will tell you about the location you are visiting. The guides expand your intellect to learn about other cultures and countries. You will see all the highlights of each country but also have free time to explore or shop on your own. Many times, there are unique boutique hotels, and breakfast is always included. Other meals included in the trip are delicious and often served at a historical restaurant in that country. Between the local guide and the Ambassador, you will always have someone to answer your questions.

As the trips for 2025 appear on their website, I'm already excited about Ireland, Greece, Portugal, and Canadian Cities & Falls. I can't wait to see what other trips they offer. What are you waiting for? Join Women of the Midwest for a fabulous trip.

Warm regards,

Kim Bainbridge
